About URECC

The University of Guelph's Undergraduate Real Estate Case Competition (URECC) is a student led organization that began in 2015.

The competition is designed to challenge undergraduate students to collaborate with their team and prepare a full-scale development proposal on a site selected in Toronto.

Students will create an analysis that considers all aspects of development feasibility including market analysis, sustainability, physical constraints, financial viability and government regulation. Students will then proceed with a recommendation to the judges based on their analysis.

URECC 2019 & 2022 Highlights

The most recent in-person event took place in March 2019 at Deloitte's Toronto Head Office. The competition attracted 20 participating schools from Canada and the United States.

In 2022, the competition was held in a virtual format to comply with COVID-19 restrictions. Despite these constraints, we continued to attract a large number of international delegates in the history of the event. This included several teams from across North America, Europe and Asia. The 2022 first place award was presented to KTH Royal Institute of Technology from Sweden.
